Local Resident Offers Reward

'No Danger'
Dr. C. M. Shipp, Hancock County health officer, said the issue is not a health one as there is "no danger of children eating 'rotten meat' which could contain poison."

The health doctor said he made "half the people mad and half the people glad" in an article that appeared in the Dec. 7 Sea Coast Echo.

where he asked "why do people display so much anxiety about dogs—why such deep concern?"

While reports of mysterious dog deaths still trickled in, many people have reported lost dogs.

Last week Miller advertised in this paper for his "lost" dog—but replaced it this week with his reward offer.

While many owners found their dog after a hour or so disappearance, a dog belongs.

to Mrs. W. L. Argus, 916 S. Beach Blvd., died after being let outside late at night for only a few minutes.

GIRL SCOUTS VISIT
SUGAR REFINERY
Intermediate and older Girl

Scouts of the Live Oak Council visited the Godchaux Sugar Refinery in New Orleans last Saturday. Mrs. Louise Mosely, leader of Troop 9, Gulfport, was in charge of organizing the trip. C. C. McDonald, Jr.,

The Scouts took a "feed bag" lunch along with them for the day. They toured the refinery and saw the process of refining sugar from the initial crushing of the cane through the packaging of the sugar, the final step. Adults who accompanied the girls were mesdames Irene Mack, George Stone, Phoebe Jones, all of Gulfport, and Mrs.

Bay St. Louis Scouts making the trip were Judy Ramond, Gloria Kimmel, Sheila Gotts-chalk, Edith Traub, Pat White,

Lakeshore Notes

Mrs. Malcolm B. Green Prize winners at the "Hog Shoot" Sunday at the Town and Country Lounge were C. E. Beckmeyer of New Orleans and Lakeshore, August Vassalli, Monti, Green, Vassalli and Co., and Ed Murtagh all of Bay St. Louis. Mrs. Clarence Green extends sincere thanks to all who attended and helped in any way.

Mrs. Leander Villimil spent the weekend in New Orleans where she attended the wedding of Miss Kay Bono, and Mr. Edward Broh of New Orleans. Miss Bono is the daughter of Mrs. Lawrence Bourgeois, a frequent visitor to Lakeshore.

The REA meeting was well represented by members of our community and we came home with our share of the lovely prizes. Mrs. Viola Garcia won a study lamp, Mrs. Lynn Hutcherson a clock lamp, an electric iron went to Edward F. Green and I won the beautiful electric blanket.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Lusch upon the birth of a son Saturday at Kiln g's Daughters Hospital. This is the ninth child for Mr. and Mrs. Lusch.

Elvin Garcia spent all last week in Memorial Hospital, but was brought home Sunday. He must remain in bed until further tests are made to determine what new complications are added to his already serious condition. A benefit will be held Sunday afternoon Dec. 16, at the Town and Country Lounge.

AMERICAN LEGION TO HOLD BEER SHOOTING MATCH

The Clement R. Bonitons Post 139, American Legion will hold its annual Beer Shooting Match on Sunday Dec. 23rd at 2 p.m. at Seaside Bros. service station on the highway.

Tickets for the shoot may be secured by contacting one of the Legionnaires in charge of operations, namely Mr. Gerald Price Sr., Mr. Warren Buehler, or Mr. Red Reinke.

These men are doing a fine job and need the support of the community, let's make the Beer Shoot a success.

The proceeds from the Shoot will help offset the cost of the annual Christmas Party for the Hancock County children, truly a worthy cause. The annual Christmas Party will be held Monday Dec. 24th at 2 p.m. at the Legion Home on Washington Ave. and the Beach.

for Mr. Garcia, to help give a happy Christmas to his family.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Winningham drove over from New Orleans Saturday to visit Mr. and Mrs. Monroe LaFontaine.

Vera O'Brien, granddaughter of Mrs. Irma Winham, weighed in as queen of the St. Roche playground festival held Sunday Dec. 9th.

Mrs. Dolores Perry is back home for the holidays, and will rejoin Mr. Perry soon.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Lucich and son were weekend guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Lucich.

Lawrence Carco and Malcolm Green invite their many friends to a Turkey Shoot, Saturday night, Dec. 22, at 7 p.m., at the Town and Country Lounge. There will be music and lots of fun for all, so be sure and come.

CAMELLIA SHOW TO BE HELD JANUARY 26-27

The Camellia Show sponsored each year by the Bay Waveland Garden Club, will be held on January 26 and 27 in the building on the corner of Main and Toulon Streets.

This show is open to the public and all interested persons are urged to enter their specimens.

OUR LADY OF THE GULF CATHOLIC CHURCH SOCIETY MEETS

Monthly meetings of St. Margaret's Daughters, followed by the Altar Society, were held in the Parish Hall on Dec. 1 at 3 P.M.

Mrs. Ina Piazza, president of St. Margaret's Daughters, reported distribution of nine blankets, 3 mattresses, shoes, clothes, medicines and groceries to needy families in the community. A Christmas box prepared by Mrs. L. Moreau, outfitting two girls, was sent to the Natheez Orphan's Home.

Reports were given on two parties for veterans. One was given at Gulfport Veterans' Hospital and one at the American Legion Home.

Mrs. George Stevenson, president of the Altar Society, announced the following committees for the coming year: Membership, Mrs. O. Delph, workers, Mrs. E. Joyce, inventory, Mrs. T. KILN CHIT-CHAT

By Juliana & Seniors of KILN Mr. and Mrs. Bobbie Sylvester spent the week end with his mother Allene at Kiln.

Leon Travira and Harlon Bennett are home from basic training in Calif.

Clark and Jessie Lott are home from a visit in Gulfport.

Grade Shyou and Edgar Peterson spent Sunday in Gulfport.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Warren spent the weekend with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Fervis Deschamps in Teilton.

that her homemaking boys are doing fine in making fruit cake.

Wonder what Joseph Hoda finds interesting in Dedaux, "Wonder if it could be a certain girl"? What do you say Jean?

Vernon Ladner, a former student of Kiln School is home for the Christmas holidays.

Mrs. Deer, the first grade teacher, was rushed to Gulfport Memorial Hospital for an emergency operation. We are happy to say she is getting along fine and will return to her home in Hattiesburg.

The latest love affairs are: Alton Ladner and Carolyn Faye Lonnie Ladner and Murrell Peterson; Jervis Moran and Betty Joyce Cuevas.

Miss Bobbie Gay Bobinger was home from PRC for the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Liston Necaise spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Necaise in Rocky Hill.

Mr. and Mrs. Saul Cuevas spent Friday in Gulfport.

Barbara Bennett spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Grover Bennett of Pearlinton, Miss.

Wonder why Slade Ladner spends every afternoon in the office "could it be he is talking to a certain party from Pass Christian."

LOCAL STUDENTS TO APPEAR IN "MESSIAH" AT STATE COLLEGE

Linda Mastio and William W. James, Jr., Bay St. Louis students at Mississippi State College, will be members of the chorus in the annual presentation of Handel's "Messiah" December 13 in Lee Hall at 8 P.M.

The Choir appeared at Granada, Miss. Dec. 9 and made a recording which will be re-broadcast over Radio Station WNAG, Granada, during the Christmas season.

Several other appearances have been scheduled for the presentation, including Meridian, Jackson and Scooba.

450 BLOOMS IN CAMELLIA SHOW

Some 450 early blooming camellias were entered in the first camellia exhibit Saturday and Sunday at the West Side Community House, Gulfport, sponsored by the Gulfport Men's Camellia Society.

Non-competitive, the exhibit is in addition to the Society's regular show and was designed to display early blooming varieties which are seldom seen at later shows.

Dr. Walter Hava, Waveland, committee chairman for the show.

COCKTAIL PARTY GIVEN

Ushering in the Christmas social season was the gala cocktail party given Saturday, Dec. 11, by Dr. and Mrs. Leroy McFarland and Dr. and Mrs. John L. Griffin at the Griffin home on Dunbar.

The living room of the home where the couples received their guests was decorated with many arrangements of holiday flowers. A large candy cane was hung on one wall, Mrs. McFarland wore a strapless black crepe sheath featuring a side drape, and Mrs. Griffin, a strapless black after five model of taffeta, trimmed on the full skirt with pink satin bands.

The dining table, which held a delicious buffet, was covered with a Christmas red cloth, embroidered with green; gold and silver pine boughs. The striking centerpiece featured a single large red candle, trimmed with silver beads and surrounded with snow and bright ornaments.

About a hundred and twenty of the younger set here and from New Orleans attended.

The gift with the three-way return-to-the recipient, to the community, to the nation-is U. S. Savings Bonds.

Today Moms Can Combat Kids' Poisoning

Today mothers throughout America can take heart if their children swallow too many aspirin tablets, drink too much kerosene or get hold of shoe polish instead of ice cream, for the pediatricians today have at their fingertips data to identify the poison ingredients in virtually all products used around the home and the recommended treatment of the poisoning.

"Thanks to the splendid work of the American Academy of Pediatrics a new manual for doctors containing a representative list of 594 products that might be poisonous has been distributed to pediatricians from coast to coast," says Dr. John Henderson, Medical Director of Johnson & Johnson, manufacturers of surgical dressings, baby and allied products. It is the American Academy of Pediatrics' made possible the publishing of "Accidental Poisoning in Childhood."

Combat Poisoning Written by Dr. Edward Press, Chairman of the Academy's Subcommittee on Poisoning and a Field Director for the American Public Health Association, the manual represents vast research efforts for Dr. Press and his colleagues to identify the ingredients in products used in the home. Ingredients that were poisonous in these products were identified and the proper treatment to combat the poisoning was compiled.

Treatments recommended represent the combined experience of hundreds of cooperating clinics and poison treatment centers around the country in determining the most effective and safest method of treating all types of childhood poisonings. Further, the book represents compilation of the vast experience of pediatricians and doctors who have made a special study of poisoning of children.

The products, the poison ingredients and the treatment, encyclopedic in extent, is so organized and arranged in the book so that the important facts concerning practically a nly household product can be quickly looked up and the proper treatment determined. The manual is available to physicians at the American Academy of Pediatrics, Evanston, Ill.

"This represents the first time doctors have at their fingertips information so vital that the difference of a few minutes may mean the life of a child," stressed Dr. Henderson. "This is truly an example of another outstanding contribution the pediatricians of America are making to medical science and the welfare and safety of children."

"As a result of this work, a child has a greater chance of surviving some of the most dangerous poisons than ever before."

The book notes in its introduction that the number of potentially toxic substances in the home which may be accidentally swallowed by children is huge and is increasing daily. In 1954, there were approximately 1,400 fatal home poisonings and almost a third were from the age group four years and under.

This work was inaugurated in 1950 when the Academy named Dr. George M. Wheatley of Metropolitan Life Insurance Company as first chairman of a committee on accidents. The work a continuous long-term effort by the Academy, was highlighted by Dr. Edward Press' research and compilations.

Johnson & Johnson's Dr. John Henderson, author of "The Complete Book of First Aid," has some words of advice to mothers and fathers designed to minimize poisoning in young children:

1. Keep all medicines in a safe place, preferably locked, and throw away prescription-type drugs once their use for the given illness is over.

2. Keep cosmetics, especially permanent wave sets and similar articles out of their reach and have a separate inaccessible place for cleaning fluids, rodent poisons and insecticides.

3. Don't put chemicals or drugs in a container that looks like food-poisoning often occurs from a child drinking a poisonous liquid, such as kerosene, from a pop bottle.

4. Never give or take medicine in the dark-always first read the label.

LETTERS TO SANTA...

Dear Santa Claus:
I am three years old. I can't write so my brother is writing this for me. Please bring me a blackboard, a gun, and a dump truck. I am a good boy and I don't forget my sister. Her name is Maisha. She wants a washing machine, dishes, and a blackboard.
I am a good boy and my sister is good, too.
Goodbye, Santa.
Your little friend,
"Tony Boy" Compretta
Bay St. Louis, Miss.

Dear "Tony Boy":
Santa received the letter that you wrote to me in case of the Sea Coast Echo and I was very glad to learn that you and Maisha have been good children.
Mrs. Santa Claus made a copy of the list of toys that you want, and if you will continue being as good a little boy as this for me, Santa will put a blackboard, gun, and a dump truck under your tree Christmas Eve night.
Love you and your family

Dear Santa:
We have the Richardson children, Jerry, Lynn, and Ricky. And we are good children. Santa, please bring us a sliding board, a play house, 2 dolls, and a little car. We hope that that is not too much, Santa, and we will be waiting for you next Monday night.
Merry Christmas to you, Santa.
Jerry, Lynn and Ricky Richardson

Dear Jerry, Lynn, and Ricky,
The Sea Coast Echo forwarded your nice letter to me up here in the North Pole and it made me very happy to hear that you are all such good children. I am sure that I can get all your toys in my pack to bring you Christmas Eve.
Thank you for writing to me and a very Merry Christmas to you children.
Love,
Santa Claus

Santa, you will find some Christmas goodies on the table which I will leave for you.
Thank you,
Sharon Ladner

Dear Sharon,
It was so nice to receive your letter which the Sea Coast Echo sent to me up here at my workshop at the North Pole. Mrs. Santa Claus enjoyed hearing from you, too. I am glad that you are a good little girl. I will be glad to pick out something for your little brother. I know that he is a good little fellow, too.
Thank you for leaving me some Christmas goodies. I get very hungry on Christmas Eve. I am a very busy man, then, calling on all my good little friends all over the world.
Merry Christmas, Sharon,
Santa Claus

THE WORLD OF NATURE
November Celestial Events
There are two astronomical events of importance in November's night sky. They are (1) a display of celestial fireworks in the early morning of 16 November and (2) the total eclipse of the moon beginning at 11:03 p.m. on 17 November and ending at 2:33 a.m. on November 18. If we have fair nights either of these phenomena should be worth staying up to see.
One of these is an annual event of mid-November and has been for many years. This is the falling of the meteors, or shooting stars. The eclipse of the moon is an irregular event which occurs from 2 to 5 or 6 times per year at any day of the year. Sometimes visible to us and sometimes not, because of the time of day at which it occurs.

The Fire Works
The meteors or shooting stars are always visible to us if the sky is clear. The celestial display which usually occurs on or about the middle of November is known as Leonids. They are so named because they seem to radiate from the constellation Leo, the Lion. If the observer will project a line in the reverse direction to which the meteors move, he will notice that they point to the vicinity of Leo.
The reason they do not fall in great numbers until after midnight is because the earth, in its orbit around the sun, is traveling toward Leo at this time of year. Leo does not appear above the eastern horizon until near midnight. The meteors come into the earth's atmosphere chiefly on the leading side. As the earth spins on its axis, our part does not face Leo until after midnight.
What Are Meteors?
It is generally believed by astronomers that the meteors we see in the sky, not only at special times as the Leonids in November, the Geminids in December, and others, but almost any night, and rarely in daylight, are the results of small fragments of rock material from outer space. These particles are the size of grains of sand or rarely the size of peas. These particles in clusters in orbits are believed to be fragments of a comet which in times past occupied the orbit now used by the fragments.
It is a well established fact that the Leonids occupy the path of a comet. The fragments are now or have been clustered. The earth passes through the path of meteors each November. In times past it has passed through the main cluster of them. When we do pass through this cluster, we have a phenomenal display of fireworks which happened on 12 November 1833 when "the stars fell".
On that memorable date, the inhabitants of the United States who saw the phenomena were frightened out of their wits by the falling of the stars. From about midnight on to day break as many as 20 meteors per second fell at times. Sometimes the sky was as bright as day. All of this happened without warning, so the people were unprepared for the surprise.
There was another display of about equal brilliance in 1866. It did not cause so much consternation because the people expected it. There had been a build up of fireworks on preceding years. Between 1866 and 1869 the cluster of meteors had to pass near the two giant planets Jupiter and Saturn. At this time they were pulled out of line and have since produced no spectacular display. Except for this, we could expect a good show about 1958. At any time when we cross their path, an interesting cluster may be encountered.
Total Lunar Eclipse
As the moon makes its monthly circuit around the earth it has to pass between us and the sun at new and around behind us at full. It is only at new moon when it is between us and the sun, that we can have a solar eclipse. Since the

Cotton Reported On State Uprise

The referendum on upland cotton marketing quotas, to be held throughout cotton-producing areas on December 11, will be the eleventh vote of its kind. J. N. Lipscomb, chairman of the State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, said today.
The first vote on cotton marketing quotas was held in March 1938, and the last previous cotton referendum was in December 1955. In the last vote, 93 percent of the farmers voting expressed approval of using the quotas for the 1956 cotton crop. At least two-thirds of the farmers voting must favor quotas before they may continue in effect.

Under legislative provisions, the Secretary of Agriculture must proclaim a national marketing quota and a national acreage allotment for upland cotton whenever he finds that the total supply exceeds the normal supply.
At the time the Secretary issued the proclamation for the 1957 crop, the total supply of upland cotton for the 1956-57 marketing year was estimated at 27.5 million running bales, which included an August 1, 1956, carryover of 14.1 million bales. The 1956 production of 13.4 million bales (the August Crop Report) and estimated imports of 60,000 bales. The "normal supply" figure of 17.7 million bales included estimated domestic consumption of 9.1 million bales, plus exports of 4.5 million bales plus a 30-percent "carryover" reserve of 4.1 million bales. Thus the projected total supply for 1956-57 at the time the quota was proclaimed exceeded the normal supply by about 9.8 million bales.
Marketing quotas operate through acreage allotments. A grower who exceeds the cotton acreage allotment for his farm, under a cotton marketing quota plan, will be subject to a marketing quota penalty of 50 percent of parity on the farm's excess production. Growers who do not exceed their cotton allotments may market free of penalties all the 1957 cotton production from their farms.

Roger Heltmann, Sr., has been released from Memorial Hospital in Gulfport where he was a surgical patient. He is reported to be convalescing nicely at his home on DeMontz.

Mississippi Power Group Receives Award

The Edison Electric Institute has awarded the Production Department of Mississippi Power Company the Safety Award for outstanding achievement in accident prevention. The award is presented by the Institute to electric utility companies or departments whose employees complete one million man hours without a disabling injury.
The Mississippi Power Company's Production Department, comprised of the Mompany's two generating plants, Plant East and Plant West, worked continuously from November 16, 1948 to June 7, 1955 without a lost time accident. During this seven and one half year period the employees of these two plants worked 1,033,534 man hours.

In discussing the award, an official of the Company stated that it is very proud of this Institute. It is a recognition of the safety consciousness of our employees. We think that it is a particularly fine achievement because it means that for more than one million man hours none of the employees at these two plants have suffered as a result of an accident. The elimination of human suffering is the true goal of any accident prevention program. That has always been our goal.
In 1952 this same award was presented to the entire company. At that time the employees of the Company had worked continuously from October 23, 1951 to July 24, 1952 without a disabling injury.

Local American Legion Post Ranks High In Mississippi

Spearheaded by membership chairman, 1st vice-commander Roger Pelhrie, the Bay St. Louis post of the American Legion, topped their membership drive quota, one of two posts in Mississippi to achieve its objective.
Commander Russell Elliott and Adjutant Gilbert Guyaut were presented American Legion medals by state commander Jack Pace as awards for the post's achievement.
Bay Post President "The Clement R. Boatcamp" Post 139, though one of the smaller posts, was praised throughout the entire conference for being an outstanding post. The local post participates in more Legion programs than any other individual post in the Department. Guyaut stated.

"It is, at present, the only Post in the State with uniforms for their entire Rifle and Drill Team, and one of the few Posts who present Colors at all Legion affairs," the Adjutant said.
The local Post was praised by the State Commander for their outstanding services to the community, their American Legion program school awards, "presentations" and Oratorical contests.

The procedure used in the naming of these different programs was listed as an example to the other posts of the Southern District, by Southern Vice Commander Ralph Van Dolah as the proper manner of utilizing the numerous American Legion programs for the betterment of our youth in the American way of life and Community Service.
Commander Russell Elliott stated that the Department Officials praised the post for their recent adoption of the Boy Scout Troop 298, and incidentally under the guidance of the Scout Master, Jake Morreale and the Scout Troop Legion Committee, the troop already has practically reached their potential membership and undertaking Troop activities.

The American Legion Christmas Party for the children of the entire community was inaugurated one of the most important community services and human relation programs possible for any post.
Commander Russell Elliott told the Echo that two very outstanding programs of the National Department of the American Legion to be fostered this year were named at the Conference. The all important "Back To God, Go To Church" movement of the Legion will be inaugurated in the Bay St. Louis Post, under the guidance of the Post's Chaplain Laurence Dickson.

Communism Cure
Definitely there is no better weapon against Communism, and the heavy war clouds hovering over the world today than a determined, concerted and necessary movement of all American citizens "Back To God, Go To Church." The other program to be started after Christmas in the local post is the "Sons Of The American Legion." Surely there is no better way to honor the memory of all veterans than forming a squadron of the Sons of
